Grade Crossing Proposal of Great Importance Here

Moses' Grade Crossing Elimination Article Will Be Proposition No. 3 Before Local Voters in November—Contains Amendment by Senator Fearon Obligorating Railroads

Railroads to Pay 15 Per Cent

Present Set-up of Costs Provides That State Pay 49 Per Cent, Railroads 50 Per Cent, County One Per Cent

Action taken by the State Constitutional Convention prior to adjournment at Albany yesterday afternoon, in determining to submit in a separate section the proposed amendment providing for state elimination of grade crossings, will give Kingston citizens an opportunity to cast their votes next November for a proposal which, its sponsors claim, will mean commencement in the near future of elimination of the city's grade crossings, according to a special dispatch from Albany today.

The proposal, sponsored by New York City Parks Commissioner Robert Moses, provides that the state in the first instance, will pay the cost of grade crossing eliminations, and after completion of the work, the railroads benefited by the elimination may be assessed up to 15 per cent of the actual cost of the elimination if it is determined, pursuant to law, that any benefit has accrued to the railroads.

Present Allocations

At the present time the state pays 49 per cent of the cost of grade crossing elimination work, the railroads involved pay 50 per cent, and the county in which the crossing is located pays the remaining one per cent.

Under the provision, the estimated cost of $4,373,500 for elimination of the Broadway, Smith, Ten Broeck, Foxhall and Flatbush avenues, and the Grand, Cornell, DeWitt and O'Neil streets, of the New York Central Railroad in Kingston would be divided as follows:

New York Central share, $2,186,750; New York State, $2,164,825.50 and Ulster county, $21,867.50.

In the event the Moses proposal is approved by the voters next November, the most that the New York Railroad can be assessed, under the present estimate of cost of the project, would be $656,025, while Ulster county would be required to contribute nothing.

Original Proposition

As originally offered to the convention by Commissioner Moses, the proposal provided that the State should pay the entire cost of all grade crossing eliminations and incidental improvements, and would have removed from the railroads and counties necessity of bearing their share of the elimination costs. Later, however, an amendment offered by former Senator George R. Fearon, of Syracuse, was adopted providing for assessment up to 15 per cent against the railroads.

The Moses grade crossing elimination proposal will be submitted to the voters next November as Proposition No. 3, and the question shall read:

"Shall the proposed amendment, submitted by the Constitutional Convention in relation to the elimination of railroad grade crossings, be approved?"

Old Couples to Picnic

Auburn, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Widows are asked to bring picnic baskets for two for the widows and widowers' second field day and picnic at Owasco Park, an affair intended to bring cheer to lonely hearts. Miss Mary J. Trickey, of North Cohocton, self-styled "fairy-godmother" to lonely widows and widowers, has completed arrangements for the second outing, inspired by the success of an earlier affair held at Loon Lake in June.

School Problems for F.D.R.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—The President of the United States is thinking about school problems here as a citizen of Hyde Park. Mr. Roosevelt, at a press conference yesterday, told reporters he would meet next week with a group of local educators to discuss the problem of centralizing nine schools in Hyde Park's vicinity.

Hines Entering Supreme Court Building

Erect as the columns that overshadow him, Tammany District Leader James J. Hines (center) strides with two defense attorneys into New York Supreme Court building where he is being tried on conspiracy charges arising out of policy racket. Walking with Hines are Clifford Defense Counsel Lloyd Paul Stryker (left) and Joseph Shalleck. A high point in trial was Hines' outcry in court, accusing George Weinberg, a Dutch Schultz "lieutenant," of testifying falsely.

Dewey Is Pleased At Result of Two Weeks in Court

Nineteen Witnesses Testify Before 'Blue Ribbon Jury' in Hines' Policy Case at New York City

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—Two forceful men—one dead and beyond the law, the other alive and fighting for liberty—dominated the scene sketched in the first two weeks of Tammany District Leader James J. Hines' policy racket trial.

The first was Arthur Flegenheimer, the man an awed world knew as Dutch Schultz, the gun-packing overlord of the numbers game. The other is Hines himself, an affable Irish fellow whom thousands call "Jimmy."

In eight days of testimony, the blue ribbon jury deciding Hines' case heard 19 witnesses tell a startling story about those two story Hines' lawyers contend was fabricated out of lies and perjury.

It was the story, first, of how the Dutchman advanced out of a grimy, little speakeasy in the Bronx to take over the independent policy games of Harlem, forging them into one big combination and raking off half their fabulous, easy-money profits.

As the story continued, Hines appeared in the testimony as political guardian angel of the terror-ridden racket, fixing judges and breaking policemen for a weekly fee of $500 or more and accepting thousands of dollars besides for the political campaigns.

Most of the story was sketched by George Weinberg, lean, laconic lieutenant of the slain racket boss, who had been on the stand more than 25 hours when the trial recessed yesterday until Monday.

Twice Lloyd Paul Stryker, Hines' chief counsel, trapped Weinberg in errors on important dates and at every opening sarcastically hurled at him the words "gangster," "crook," "thief," "gunman," and "perjurer." Near the end of his scathing cross-examination, he whipped out one last insinuating question.

Ulster's 12 Auto Deaths Half of Figure in 1937

Widespread Safety Drive Held Factor Responsible for Saving of Lives—Murray Has Praise For Architect

Deaths in Ulster county as a result of automobile accidents have been cut in two this year over the record of 1937. To date there have been 12 persons fatally injured as a result of motor car accidents in the county while in 1937 up to Labor Day twice that number had met death.

This reduction in number of deaths has been due to the vigilance of traffic officers and also to an educational campaign which has been waged to impress upon the motoring public the necessity of care and caution while driving. Cooperating in this movement have been State Troopers stationed in the county, Sheriff Abram J. Molyneux and his deputies, Chief J. Allan Wool and his city police force and District Attorney Cleon B. Murray who has conducted a campaign of caution to all motorists.

Labor Day holiday season is approaching when traffic to and from the mountain resorts will be extremely heavy and included in the traffic will be the customary poor driver and the reckless driver as well. Despite careful patrol by officers it will be impossible to prevent some accidents.

Ickes Flails Dies and Glass For Red Probe During Trip

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 27 (AP)—The Dies Committee investigating un-American activities and Virginia's senior Democratic Senator Carter Glass came in for censure today from Secretary Ickes.

Addressing the Young Men's Business Club Ickes declared yesterday:

"I find while I am in Alaska the Red hunters swung into action again.

"They even went to Hollywood and make the amazing discovery little Shirley Temple is a dangerous Red. Imagine the great committee raiding her nursery and seizing her dolls as evidence. It is all so very silly."

The Interior Secretary said because the New Deal had for its objective the correction of evils in America's social and economic systems, New Dealers are termed Reds, "along with all true liberals."

He chastised Senator Glass as typical of "political hypocrites that bite the hand that feeds them."

"The reactionary press hails this 'rugged individual' as another Horatio at the Bridge because of his bitter attacks on economic policies of the government. Yet no senator comes oftener and with more insistence for PWA grants than this same Senator Glass."

Three Campers Hurt When Car Upsets Near Phoenicia; Highland Man Is Injured

John Brenn, 45, Struck by Car at Elting's Corners as He Was Crossing Highway Early Last Night

At Poughkeepsie

Taken to St. Francis Hospital Where Condition Is Reported Fair; Investigation

John Brenn, 45, of Highland, who was struck by a car on the Highland-New Paltz road about 8 o'clock Friday evening, was reported as much improved at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, where he was taken following the accident. His condition was reported as "50 per cent better" and he has gained consciousness. His condition was not considered critical today although following the accident his condition was considered serious.

An X-ray was being taken this morning to determine whether he had suffered a slight fracture of the skull or whether he was suffering from a concussion. Brenn was hit by a car operated by Alfred Luchick of Highland as he crossed the road at Elting's Corners. The injuries were all about the head and face. Corporal Norman Baker and Trooper Andy Klein of New Paltz conducted an investigation. Apparently Brenn was hit by the bumper of the Luchick sedan when he was about half way across the road. The injured man was thrown up over the radiator and hood and his head crashed through the windshield. The car traveled about 50 feet before the injured man dropped clear. Brenn had been in the Joseph Lammert store and had just left and started across the road when he was hit.

Rides to Victory

Miss Blanche Glass, 10, of Flatbush avenue, is shown beside the bicycle with which she out-ran approximately 35 boys and another girl at a feature race during the Ulster County Fair. Miss Glass expects her prize, a new bicycle, today.

Young Men From Manhattan in Benedictine Hospital; Two Said to Be in Serious Condition; Fourth Unhurt

Call Is Delayed

News of Accident Not Given Immediately; Luddy Tells of Car's Skid

Three young men who had been camping at the State Camp at Woodland Valley were injured Friday afternoon around 10 o'clock when a roadster in which they were riding overturned on one of the sharp curves of the narrow road as they drove toward Phoenicia. A fourth occupant of the car was thrown clear and escaped injury.

The three injured young men were brought to the Benedictine Hospital. Further investigation is being made today by Trooper Keefe.

In Serious Condition
John Yeager, 18, of Staten Island, owner and driver of the car, suffered lacerations of the head and arm and possible fracture of the skull. His condition at the Benedictine Hospital this morning was reported as serious.

Robert Rider, 22, of 112 Grove street, Brooklyn, was also reported in serious condition with injuries about the body and possible fractured ribs.

Robert Marshall, 18, of Richmond Hills, Staten Island, suffered lacerations of the face and his condition was reported as fair.

Walter Luddy Unhurt
The fourth occupant of the car, Walter Luddy, 18, of Staten Island, was riding in the rumble seat and was thrown clear as the car overturned. He was not brought to the hospital.

Word of the accident was not sent immediately to the police officials. James Morrissey, foreman, put in a call for State Trooper Dunn at Phoenicia, but Officer Dunn was not on duty at Phoenicia and the call was transferred to State Trooper Keefe who was on a call and it was relayed to Trooper Walter Keefe at Saugerties who made an investigation.

His investigation indicated that the accident was caused by too fast driving on the narrow road. The accident happened some distance up the Woodland Valley road as the four drove toward Phoenicia from the State Camp at the end of Woodland Valley. Luddy told the Trooper that the car skidded on a sharp curve and apparently when the driver applied the brake and swerved to avoid a tree the car went out of control. At the time the car was traveling at a rapid rate of speed. The car turned completely over coming to rest again on all four wheels.

Youth on Spree Paid Visit Here

Eugene Johnson, 14-year-old Highland boy who drew $200 out of his bank account and left to see the world, has been traced to Kingston but track of him has been lost here. Wednesday the lad left home and was seen on the Poughkeepsie ferry that day. An excursion was run by the Line to Albany that day and the lad bought a ticket to Kingston. He is known to have taken the boat but whether he left the boat at Kingston or continued on is not known definitely.

Parents of the lad appealed to Sergeant Hulse and State Trooper to locate the boy. He apparently had planned his trip for he packed a suitcase with clothing. It is known he left home before 11 o'clock and it is assumed he took the afternoon Day Boat up the river.

Police in the Hudson valley have been asked to keep a lookout for him. A check is being made with relatives and friends in this locality to ascertain whether he may not be visiting. This morning State Troopers' headquarters at Highland reported that no word had been heard from him.

Whistles Out

Philadelphia, Aug. 27 (AP)—Miss Helen Robbins literally whistled her way to freedom. Brought before Magistrate Charles Medway on a disorderly conduct charge, she was asked what she did for a living. "I whistle," she said, and demonstrated. "That's pretty good," said Medway. "Discharged."

Dog Delays Train

Philadelphia, Aug. 27 (AP)—Note to the boss: That yarn employees told you about being late for work because a dog slowed up elevated trains is true. The white mongrel skipped along merrily, while train after train piled up behind, until workmen finally captured him.

Legion Sponsors City-Wide Program At Hasbrouck Park

More Than 4,000 Persons Are Expected to Attend Gala Revue; Bill Jordan Is to Be Program Master

Another City-Wide Community Night program will be held by the Department of Recreation Monday evening at Hasbrouck Park. This year the entire program is being sponsored by the local American Legion with Bill Jordan as program master.

Monday Night's program will be the biggest of the season, with people from all sections of the city converging at the natural amphitheater in Hasbrouck Park. It is expected that this year's attendance will even exceed the estimated 1,000 people who were on hand to watch last year's performance.

The local post of the American Legion has always been very cooperative with the recreation department, and in arranging Monday night's program, Bill Jordan, who has handled the legion's end of the program, has spared no effort in bringing together the best talent in this section. A partial list of entertainers for the city-wide program includes Pardee, Allen and Amarillo, who have been playing throughout this section together for over 20 years and are known to be about the best trio of the kind in this section of the state. The Doodledorers, famous comic group well known in this section as well as in other parts of the country where they have performed will also be on the program. Marty Kelly, local singer; Bill Baker, Jr., saxophonist; Joe Abdullah and his singing saw; a quartet, and several other acts which will be announced later also have been secured.

The program will be closed with new reels of talking pictures.

Britain Worried

Great Britain Appeals Today to 'All Quarters' to Lessen Czechoslovakia Tension

(By The Associated Press)

Great Britain appealed today to "all quarters" to lessen the tension in Czechoslovakia as the world, with deadly strife in Spain, China and Palestine, anxiously watched deepening rivalries in Central Europe.

The British statement was regarded generally as evidence that Britain was becoming increasingly worried over events at Prague.

It was issued a few hours before Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, spoke on the Czechoslovak situation which, apparently, was approaching a showdown. The Prague government made what it called final concessions to its Sudeten German minority, behind whose demands a self-styled "protection" of 3,500,000 German citizens of Czechoslovakia, 1933 legislature.

Several Subjects To Form Basis of Fall Campaigning

Republicans and Democrats Ready to Use Controversial Articles for Stumping Material in Autumn

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—New York's major party leaders planned today to carry to the fall election stump some of the more controversial subjects incorporated in a revamped state constitution to be submitted to the November electorate.

Less than 24 hours after the $1,114,000 constitutional convention adjourned with a decision to offer the revised organic law in nine separate sections, Democratic and Republican chiefs made no secret of the fact that many of the subjects would be discussed at length in the coming campaign.

Voters in President Roosevelt's home state will elect a governor and other state officers for four years and United States senators, members of the House of Representatives and a State legislature. Some of the 168 convention delegates already are candidates for State office and others may be designated.

Certain to become campaign issues, leaders of both parties agreed, were proposals for reapportionment of the legislature by increasing assembly seats from 150 to 153 and senate districts from 51 to 52.

Plan proportional representation as a method of election, voted by a coalition of upstate Republicans and a majority of Democrats despite Democratic Governor Lehman's assertion it "has no place in the constitution."

Curb authority of State agencies by permitting court review of their determinations both on "acts and law."

The measures dealing with reapportionment and prohibiting "P. R." will be put before the voters separately. The article designed to curb governmental bureaucracy is incorporated in a revised judiciary article which also will be submitted to a single unit.

Governor Lehman, who has announced his availability for the United States Senate, appeared likely to ask the voters to reject the proposals dealing with reapportionment, proportional representation and governmental bureaucracy.

The convention ended its 21 weeks' work, during which it sifted some 700 proposals down to 57, in a note of good will. Delegates joined in paying tribute to President Frederick E. Crane and Honorary President Alfred E. Smith. They heard that the constitution cost $233,000 less than the $1,250,000 allotted to it by the 1933 legislature.

Man Disappears With 8 Fire Extinguishers

Friday afternoon an unidentified man said to be riding in a auto bearing license plates J-over-E 22303 N. Y. and Gene Sharpe, an employee at the W. T. Grant Company store on Wall street, took eight fire extinguishers from the store to Jack's Service Station on North Front street where the stranger was to make certain repairs to the extinguishers, which are valued at $5 each.

After arriving at the service station the stranger informed Sharpe he would need some soft cloths to use in his work and Sharpe returned to the store to obtain the cloths. When he returned to the service station the auto, the stranger and the eight fire extinguishers had vanished.

The disappearance was reported to the police department at 4 o'clock that afternoon, and a general alarm was sent out, but to date the stranger, the car and the extinguishers are missing.

17 Fliers Killed

Paul, France, Aug. 27 (AP)—Two accidents to army airplanes last night took eight lives, bringing to 17 the number killed in less than a week.

Mayor Heiselman Suggests Sale of Wiltwyck Station

Fire Depot Not in Best Location, Considering Present Traffic Conditions; Says Modern House Needed

While discussing the uptown traffic problem this morning, Mayor C. J. Heiselman said that more parking space could be provided on Fair street, if the city should sell the Wiltwyck engine house.

The mayor said that when this engine house was built auto traffic was less than nebulous, but automobiles make for congested traffic in this area. With traffic as heavy as it is the firemen experience trouble in getting the heavy fire apparatus in and out of the engine house. Also considerable street space that otherwise could be used for the parking of cars is taken up by the fire zone.

The fire house is not in the most desirable location under present conditions, the mayor says, and if the city could find a purchaser for the property who would pay what it was worth it would be possible to build a modern fire house uptown, but not in a congested traffic district.

Senator Fearon Reported Engaged

Yonkers, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Bertha S. Moore of Bronxville, vice chairman of the Westchester County Republican Committee, announced her engagement today to former State Senator George R. Fearon of Syracuse, prominent Republican leader, according to a copyrighted story in the Yonkers Herald Statesman.

The engagement is an after-math of the state constitutional convention where, their friends say, Mrs. Moore and Mr. Fearon were often seen together. Mr. Fearon has been an occasional visitor at the summer home of Mrs. Moore at Big Wolf, Faust, N. Y., it was reported. Announcement of the engagement was delayed until today to avert what Mrs. Moore described as "possible embarrassment." The convention closed yesterday.

The couple have been acquainted for years since Mrs. Moore's husband, the late T. Channing Moore, was a member of the state assembly from 1920 to 1926. He died in 1931.

New Speed Mark

Captain George Eyston Boosts His Record to 345.49 Miles Per Hour at Bonneville

Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, Aug. 27 (AP)—Captain George E. T. Eyston smashed the world's automobile speed record to shreds here today, boosting his own mark to 345.49 miles per hour.

Roaring through the measured mile in two directions within one hour, the retired British army captain far exceeded his own world land speed record of 311.42, chalked up here last November. Eyston's mighty "thunderbolt" painted black to overcome a glaring sun which robbed him of a new record last Wednesday, hit 347.49 miles per hour on the outward trip and 345.51 miles per hour on the return jaunt.

Colonel Tim Says Boys Are Looking Ahead Now

Cheyenne, Wyo. (AP)—The Buffalo Bill era is being pushed off the entertainment stage by an imaginative, scientific era that has caught the interest of the coming generation, says Colonel Tim F. McCoy, Wild West show impresario.

Colonel McCoy's own venture into the Wild West show business failed this spring.

"I probably will not try it again," he said. "Youngsters now look forward rather than backward and Indians and cowboys and the history of the winning of the West don't appeal to them as much as the scientific accomplishments of the present and those which imagination endows the future."

Marlborough Audit Report Given by State Comptroller

Albany, Aug. 27 (Special)—Criticism of some irregularities in the conduct of fiscal affairs of the town of Marlborough, Ulster county, during the period of the fiscal year ended December 31, 1937, is contained in the latest report of examination of the town's finances by members of the staff of State Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine.

A summary of the report has been prepared by the bureau of municipal accounts, and copies of the report have been forwarded to local officials. The summary contains the following:

"The records showed that all oaths of office and official undertakings required to be executed and filed by the town officials had been attended to."

"There seemed to be some doubt as to whether or not a bond register had been maintained and the examiners, therefore, recommended that a book for that purpose be procured at once in order that the provisions of section 10 of the general municipal law could be complied with."

"It was noted that the town board had exceeded its authority in appointing a town attorney at a fixed compensation per annum as this power does not exist in second class towns."

"It appears that the board of supervisors of Ulster county at the annual meeting thereof in 1936 levied a lump sum by tax to be collected from the taxpayers of the town to the extent of $1,500, said sum to be placed to the credit of the general fund. This levy was illegal as there is no statute which permits the lump sum by tax for such purpose."

"The records maintained by the justices of the peace were, with few exceptions, satisfactory and files were properly retained to the supervisor or state comptroller. The examiners, however, called attention to one error in which the fine should have been remitted to the state comptroller, whereas, it was turned over to the supervisor."

"The justices state that the town board had examined their dockets as required by section 105 of the town law, although that fact was not entered in the minutes of the board."

"The examiners call attention to several claims that had been audited and allowed which were not sufficiently itemized. Probably the claims were legal charges but in order to maintain a proper record, all claims should be clearly itemized in order that the purpose of the expenditure may be made a matter of record."

"The town board authorized the payment of $100 to an American Legion post for Memorial Day observance. This action did not follow the provisions of section 64, subdivision 12, of the town law which relates thereto. That section provides that the manner in which the fund is expended shall be presented to the town board for audit in the same manner as other claims against the town."

"It appears that former supervisors had erred in making additional charges for services rendered or funds paid out in highway matters, whereas the entire compensation of the supervisor should be paid in a lump sum fixed by the town board and no other compensation or fees paid for such services."

"The records also show that a former clerk had charged for the issuance of licenses at a per diem rate whereas the licensee is presumed to pay the only fee or compensation to which the town clerk is entitled in relation thereto."

"One of the justices of the peace had erred in presenting the charges in connection with criminal cases in which the defendants were held to await the action of the Grand Jury. The fees thus arising are county charges."

"It is noted that one of the constables of the town had been employed on highway work in violation of section 104 of the town law. This section provides that no town officer shall be interested in any claim against the town except such claims as may arise in connection with the performance of his duties as an officer."

"It appears that constables and deputy sheriffs have misinterpreted section 74-b of the code of criminal procedure in that a custody charge has been made for taking prisoners to the county jail at Kingston. Under such circumstances it cannot be construed that the officer has the prisoner in custody for one day."

"Inspectors of election had been overpaid for services rendered on election day as the statute specifically prescribes that they shall receive compensation for one day only irrespective of the time required to canvass the votes."

"A school director had been overpaid as the statute prescribes a rate of only $2 and necessary traveling expenses."

Hasbrouck Park Leads Field In Inter-Playground Points

Cho-Cho, Health Clown, Visiting Ulster County

Cho-Cho, the original health clown, who has played in 2,000 different towns in 12 states to an audience of over a million children, is spending his vacation with friends in Woodstock. Cho-Cho lives in Palmyra, N. J., and is planning another trip through the southern states after Labor Day.

Friday evening Cho-Cho accepted the invitation extended him by the Rev. Joseph B. Cassidy to appear at Camp Wapinacook on the Eposus creek in the Catskill mountains at Mt. Tremper and entertain the 125 boys in camp and about a hundred invited guests.

Cho-Cho when seen after the show said that this was the first he had played in Ulster county since 1920 when he gave a performance in Kingston.

He took up the profession of clowning when a youth and has traveled all over the United States both for himself and for several seasons as one of the leading clowns with Barnum & Bailey's circus.

Since being on "his own" his largest audience was a night's performance several years ago at Chattanooga, Tenn., where he kept 10,000 thrilled and convulsed with laughter by his performances. Sprinkled through his act are some bits of advice to the children on how to keep well and healthy.

Cho-Cho says he is known by no other name but that and all of his mail comes addressed to Cho-Cho. He said he likes Ulster county and does not plan to leave until after the holiday.

Vassar to Receive Collection of Art

Morristown, N. J., Aug. 27 (AP)—Vassar College will receive under the will of Eliza Buffington of Madison filed for probate yesterday art objects collected by her in years of world travel.

Miss Buffington, who died August 13, was a daughter of the late Brigadier General A. R. Buffington, chief of ordinance, U. S. A., who died in 1922.

An artist who studied under teachers in Japan and Russia, she left her drawings, illustrations, pictures, plates, paintings and tapestries to Vassar. In a separate trust, she offered the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., college 61 shares of preferred and 67 shares of common stock of the American Bank Note Co., interest in a cooperative apartment at 424 East 57th street, New York, and 60 shares of stock in 421 East 57th

Local Amateurs Well Received

The third amateur night program of Hasbrouck Park last night consisted of several excellent presentations of tap dancing, singing and instrumental selections and was won by Ralph Morello and Joe Vaccaro, guitarists, and Raymond Jones, tap dancer.

Winners from the various amateur night programs will be on the final community night next Friday night and take part in the program.

Included also in the program last night were the Kingston Ramblers who entertained without competing in the amateur contest and received tremendous acclaim for their selections. This is the third time the Ramblers have been at the local park and have made a hit at each presentation.

Second place winners in last night's program were the Misses Alice Williams and Gladys Hedron who sang a group of popular songs accompanied at the accordion by Mrs. Richard Williams.

Others who took part were Miss Gertrude Purdy, tap dancer, who sang as an accompaniment "Sleigh Bells Ring"; Miss Rita Getner, in a waltz cot and soft shoe dance; Miss Theresa Cassoli of New Jersey, who sang "Fathedral in the Blues" and "In a Little Dutch Kindergarten"; and Miss Mary Crespinio, tap dancer. All of the presentations showed evidence of excellent talent and will probably be listed among winners in future programs.

It was also announced at the program that Hasbrouck Park had won the crafts exhibit at the auditorium and was now in position to bid for the cup awarded the playground evening in the various city-wide contests.

It was also announced that a special community night program would be given Monday at which time music would be presented by several well-known local musicians.

Next Friday night the community night program will be in the nature of a closing "Party" at which time games will be run on the large field at the park for both youth and older competitors beginning at 7. The platform program will begin at 8 and will include besides the amateurs and professional acts talking movies by Harry Milioni, Jr.

The programs at Hasbrouck Park have been presented in a natural theatre behind the pavilion which provides ample opportunity for all to comfortably see the program on the platform. Miss Amadio's amplifier system last night enabled all to hear all of the numbers.

Because of the increasing attendance at the park community nights, parents are requested to aid the directors and park police in maintaining order by keeping their children with them and thus remove the congestion and general disorder directly in front of the platform.

Guest Soloist
Miss Gladys Tandler, well known soloist in New York city and St. Louis, Mo., who sang the role of Rip's daughter in the opera, "Rip Van Winkle," presented this week at the Williams Band and Orchestra Camp, will be the guest soloist at the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church at the regular Sunday morning service. Miss Tandler has been studying voice at Woodstock this summer.

TOWNSEND PLAN NEWS

READ TOWNSEND NEWS

If you want news—the real truth—concerning the Townsend National Recovery Movement, there is only one paper that has it—The Townsend National Weekly. It is on sale each week at the following places: the two O'Reilly stores, Broadway and John street, Schatzel's on the Strand, Epstein's on lower Broadway, Otto's, 630 Broadway, and Mrs. Ross's store, near Liberty street, on Broadway.

The latest issue of the Townsend Weekly, hereafter, will be sent free of charge on Tuesday. The issue just received today is full of thrilling good news for all Townsends. Do not fail to get a copy Monday. An extra large Pre-Election edition will be issued November 1st. Order your copy in advance.

Here is some of the interesting news in the edition to be on sale Monday: Representative Claude Fuller, for ten years Congressman from Arkansas, a bitter foe of the Townsend Plan, and member of the Ways and Means Committee that blocked the Townsend bill this year from being reported out of committee for a vote in the House, was defeated for re-nomination by Clyde Ellis, an ardent Townsendsite.

In Idaho, Berri Miller, a Townsendsite, was nominated by his party for Representative at large. His election is assured. One U. S. Senator and two other Congressmen of that state are loyal Townsendsites. Similar news is being reported from many states.

A Surprising Statement
Congressman E. W. Patterson, of Kansas, said recently, "In the 74th congress we had 40 members in the House. In the 75th congress our ranks more than doubled. It appears that in the 76th congress (in 1939) our ranks will show the same percentage of gain over the 75th congress. In such an event we will have a majority of the House membership supporting this legislation, and it will be enacted. It appears to me that victory is in sight."

Cheer up, fellow Townsendsites!
Those folks who say that the Townsend bill will never pass may wake up some morning next year hearing the newsboy shouting on the street, "THE TOWNSEND BILL HAS PASSED!"
Be sure to get your Townsend Weekly at the news stand. Then join the Townsend Club. Phone the secretary about it, 356 J.

fense is concealed aggression, response to imports by exports, restraint on armaments by the difficulty of paying for them, and, last, grievances and their irrationality. The psychologists were bewildered and amused.

He treated love and hate as if they were X and Y, then worked out the forces leading toward cooperation and those leading to suspicion and separation. And when he got all through with his psychological algebra, he believed that he had proved that there was no chance of war.

A line of scripture balances these tendencies much more easily—"Perfect love casteth out fear," and a well-known proverb shows the method—"Who would have friends must show himself friendly." But it is always comforting to have poetry backed up by mathematics.

MORE GOLD

Miners seem to have struck it rich in Nevada again, with gold ore said to run as high as $2,000 a ton. Excited miners are talking again in terms of scores and hundreds of millions. The discovery puts new life into prospectors.

The public, however, refuses to get excited. Gold is an old story now, with world production already higher than ever, and the United States Treasury bulging with $13,000,000,000 or more of the metal. Governments still covet it, to pay debts with and pour into armament, but much of the glamor passed with the general discontinuance of the gold standard. This discovery would probably be more useful if it were molybdenum, which is useful for hardening steel.

EXERCISE FOR TANTRUMS

Cora McCaskill, instructor in the Vanderbilt University School of Nursing, gives a practical suggestion about handling temperamental children. If they are given to tantrums, she says, don't lecture them or punish them. Just give them more to do. They need to work off their energy. This doesn't mean to give an immediate job to a child in a rage. Ignore him or put him in a quiet room till he gets over it. Then give him interesting work for his mind and muscles.

The latest light on the status of the courts comes from Charles B. Sears, judge in the Appellate Court of New York State and chairman of the judiciary committee in the constitutional convention. He says the courts are not infallible, and he himself is "only a judge of a court of intermediate conjecture."

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

 THE DEFECTIVE CHILD

A physician had four girls arrive in the home before a son was born. The little boy was the idol of the mother and four sisters, but the father finally told his wife and daughters that they were spoiling him and that he would always remain a baby if they continued to pamper him and let him have his own way.

As a matter of fact the father found that his boy was not remaining a baby because the family were spoiling him but because he was really a little backward mentally, really a "defective." As he grew older he had him play with children of his own age and gave him a careful examination to make sure that there was no physical defect present. With a little coaching at home he was able to make a fair showing at a nearby private school so that at the age of 12 he was mentally aged 9.

As there were no signs of beginning puberty (that is, emerging into manhood) his father put him on gland extracts—the thyroid extract to remove some of the gland excess and the male gland extract to develop the man or male characteristics. The change in the boy was remarkable and at the usual age of puberty (14 or 15) the boy was about normal or not less than 95 per cent.

The physician afterwards stated that while the great change might have occurred at the puberty age anyway, he was afraid to wait and take chances and so administered the gland extracts with the satisfactory results above noted.

In speaking of the defective child, Dr. Esther L. Richards, Baltimore, in Clinical Medicine and Surgery, says: "The mentally backward child should be recognized at as early an age as possible. He shows very limited imagination in play—he does the same thing over and over, such as pulling a book in and out of its cover (a toy auto up and down). His powers of initiative (starting or doing new things) are small and he is content and happy to repeat actions and words. He learns new words very slowly. Parents should know or be told the truth so that time will not be wasted on procedures that will be of no help to the child."

Dr. Barton's latest booklet entitled "Scourge" with reliable information regarding the two most dreaded social diseases, gonorrhea and syphilis, is now available. Know the facts, protect yourself, and save endless worry. Address your request to Dr. J. W. Barton, The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd St., New York City, enclosing ten cents to cover cost of service and handling, and mentioning The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Aug. 27, 1918.—Twenty-nine more boys of Kingston entrained for Camp Gordon at Atlanta, and were given a rousing send-off.

Leri T. Burhans of Flatbush fatally hurt and six others injured in an auto collision on the Saugerties road.

Several buildings on the former Benjamin R. Osterhout farm at Flatbush destroyed by fire.

Aug. 27, 1928.—The cloudburst of the preceding day filled the Ashokan reservoir to overflowing. Records showed 5.4 inches of rain fell. The O. W. railroad tracks were washed out between Napanoch and Ellenville, but repairs were made when water receded and train service was resumed.

The current was so strong in Rondout Creek that ferry service was suspended.

Death of Mrs. Peterson of Tremper avenue died.

Death of Mrs. Michael Green of South Wall street.

The village of Sundown, isolated by the cloudburst and flood, was badly in need of food supplies. A trainload of DeForest of Staples street died.

 Archie Lumsden, myself, Hugo's friend.
 Otilie Willis, American heiress, whose sister was murdered.

Yesterday: We bring Otilie to the villa and find Dunning there. She runs into his arms, sobbing.

Chapter 18

The Big Swindle

HE held her as he would a child, patting her shoulder with a clumsy tenderness. "There, there!" he soothed her. "That's the girl! Cry it out, honey! Sure I've heard about it all, but only yesterday." He stared across her bowed head at Hugo, with somber indignation. "Mr. Stern," he said, "was this necessary? Couldn't you have left the telling to someone nearer her? It's cruel to get news like that from a stranger."

Hugo shrugged, his face a dusky red; but before he could answer, Ada provided a diversion. She had been standing staring from one to another of us, her eyes round and startled; but now she caught her brother's arm.

"Hugo," she said, in an all too audible whisper, "who is this girl? She's like—"

Hugo laid one brown, muscular hand across her mouth. "Ada, my dear," he said, "this young lady is Miss Otilie Willis. She has come here to have tea with us, but she has just received some rather disturbing news, and she thinks she would like to be alone for a few minutes. If you'll have tea ready for us on the terrace in half an hour, I think everything will be straightened out by then."

Ada went reluctantly.

"See here now, Otilie," Dunning was saying. "Look things in the face, like a good girl, and show your grief. You're not helping me. Lanie any by crying yourself sick."

The chestnut head shook violently; a muffled sob was the only answer. Hugo poured out a stiff tot of brandy, laid his hand on one limp, dark-blue shoulder, and shook it. "Here, stop that," he said sharply. "Drink this up at once!"

She lifted her head, drowned dark eyes stared at him resentfully. "I can't," she said, in a voice between a sob and a choke. "Go away—leave me alone, can't you?"

"If you haven't drunk it in one minute," said Hugo, "I'll force it down your throat."

A sudden flash of anger sparked through the tears, but she drained it at a gulp.

Hugo sighed and dropped into the nearest chair, like a man suddenly tired. "If you feel able," he suggested, "we might begin our discussion."

The girl disengaged herself and crossed to an old, gilt-framed mirror, examining at sight of her tear-stained face. Whether as a result of the brandy or her sudden flare of anger, she was completely restored to self control, and she even achieved a wry sideways smile at her reflection.

Applying a powder puff with vigor, she whispered to me, "May I open help the woman he married?"

She perched herself on the arm of Dunning's chair and laid a hand on his knee, which he covered instantly with one big paw. "Just how much have you told them, Otilie?" he queried gently.

"Nothing that matters," she said. "Only how Sis ran away from home and Pat came over to find her. Oh, Cuthbert, have you heard about Pat too?"

"Sure, sure," he soothed her. "But how much do you wish we should tell them?"

I suddenly realized with dismay that the weapon we had proposed to use for bargaining was at that moment lying, presumably, in the big man's pocket, and that, as he had unquestionably read it, its market value was now precisely nil. From the look on Hugo's face, I fancied the same thought had occurred to him.

Cards On The Table

"BEFORE we go any farther," Hugo broke in sharply, "I should like to know Mr. Dunning's exact status. I understood he was a journalist."

The girl gave a little breathless chuckle. "Oh, Cuthbert! Shut up! You've never been pulling that gag again? Gentlemen, I assure you that Mr. Dunning is no journalist. He's a detective—in fact, he was Uncle Virgilio's bodyguard, way back before I was born. Then, when he got tired of working for him, he quit and founded the Dunning Detective Agency in New York."

"With branches in St. Louis, Chicago, and San Francisco," put in her subject dryly. "Don't you go leaving out my background, Otilie!"

"And it's like this, Cuthbert," the girl went on, "this gentleman, Mr. Lumsden, has a letter from Sis, written just before—just before her death, that he's promised to show me if I tell him—things."

Mr. Dunning looked from Hugo to me with a grim little smile. "I'm sorry, gentlemen," he said, "but all's fair in love and detection. Otilie, that letter was loaned to me by Mr. Lumsden this morning. I came here for the purpose of giving it back to him, but I must tell him, and you too, that its contents are ineradicably engraved on my memory. You don't have to give away a thing unless you want to."

In her turn she looked from one to the other of us, with dark eyes that were wide and questioning and considering. Then very quietly she folded her hands in her lap and sat upright.

"You know, Cuthbert," she said, "I think we'd be wise to trust them. I believe they could help us a lot."

"Well," he drawled, "it's a strange thing, but I have the same impression; only this time, gentlemen, it must be agreed that all the cards are on the table. Is it a bargain?"

"It's a bargain," said Hugo dryly.

Mr. Dunning crossed to the empty hearth, stood up with his back to it, and looked down on us with a large benevolence.

"Well," he said, "I guess it's up to me to start the ball rolling, but to do that I've got to go 'way back to a certain night in Prague, three and a half years ago, when Dr. Raditch, Vice-President of the Czechoslovak Republic, was shot down and killed as he left the opera-house. The shooting caused a flutter in the chancelleries of Europe, and an amazingly slump in international securities."

He beamed at us with the complacency of a conjurer who has produced a particularly fine rabbit. "An interesting situation?" he commented. "The most interesting bit of it was the amount of insurance against just such a fatality that was collected by a number of innocuous people, various parts of the world. Gentlemen, that was the beginning of what, from now on, we will call the Big Swindle. And here's the continuation of it, right up to date."

Then he proceeded, to spin the queerest yarn that I had ever heard.

Foretelling The Future

THE assassination of Raditch, he said, was the first of a series of strange fatalities, involving men of every conceivable nationality and calling, but in each case, men of such outstanding importance in commerce, finance, or politics, that their sudden demise caused a considerable slump or panic in their particular sphere of activity; and in each case, it was subsequently discovered, the possibility of their deaths had been heavily covered with a number of insurance policies, taken out by a variety of seemingly unconnected people in all quarters of the globe.

There had been longish intervals between the first three or four deaths, but latterly they had followed each other thick and fast. But nobody ever dreamed of tracing any connection between the various deaths.

The men involved were of such widely different races and professions, their deaths were so easily and naturally explained—in the case of accidents, the accidents were such as might have happened to anybody; where murder or assassination were involved, the killer either escaped or, when caught, was found to have a legitimate political or personal grievance against his victim; that no one, Dunning said, smelled a rat.

The people implicated were so completely unconnected and so widely scattered that the most fantastic flight of fancy could not have imagined a connection between any two of them; but—and here was the one weak link in the chain—although the insurance companies involved were seemingly unconnected as the policy-holders, they were actually bound together by the very palpable spider's web that holds together world finance, for over a certain sum the bulk of their liabilities was carried either by Lloyd's, the Bureau Veritas of France, or the American Bureau.

One day, by a fortuitous coincidence, a gentleman, Edward Pockett by name and a Lloyd's underwriter by profession, took his summer holiday in the south of France and there made casual acquaintance with an elderly Frenchman.

They had been discussing the news of the day, the main items of which happened to be the sudden death of two prominent men. One of these, a middle-European railway magnate, had come to his end by a fall from an aeroplane. The other, the President of a South American republic, had met with an even more natural and understandable death, for he had been shot down in the course of a revolution.

But, said the elderly Frenchman, the point which interested him was this: in the current number of a certain small almanac, the Grimoire astrologique, published somewhere on the Côte d'Azur and purporting in its crude, unlettered way, to foretell the future, both these fatalities had been predicted, not only with uncanny accuracy, but actually in the very months in which they had subsequently occurred.

President Accepts Berle Resignation

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt accepted today the resignation of Adolf A. Berle, Jr., as assistant secretary of state, and wrote that Berle had given the administration "splendid cooperation."

Berle's resignation is effective September 15. Summer White House authorities said he would return to his law professorship at Columbia University.

Berle, a New Yorker, sent the President his resignation a few days after Roosevelt Magill, under-secretary of the treasury, had resigned to return to Columbia.

Magill also holds a professorship in the Columbia Law School.

"On the occasion of my appointment last February as assistant secretary of state," Berle wrote Mr. Roosevelt, "you were good enough to agree that the temporary might be considered temporary and that I might ask to be relieved when certain work was got forward."

"This has now been done. I have enjoyed every minute of it. The time has come to go home, and I offer my resignation to take effect at your pleasure in September."

Berle told the President that "I need hardly assure you that I propose to support your administration and you personally with whatever ability I have against your enemies, foreign and domestic."

There have been reports of friction between Berle and other officials in the state department, but it was made clear at the summer White House that no such factor was involved in Berle's resignation.

Girl's Mumbling Discloses Crime

Washington, Pa., Aug. 27 (AP)—District Attorney James C. Bane told today how a 12-year-old girl's mumbling in her sleep disclosed incestuous relations with her father whom she later killed.

He said the girl, Irene Grizic, only daughter of Steve Grizic, 53, Newark, N. J., was visitors in this section Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge Gerow and daughter, Marjorie, attended the Pickens-Pugsley wedding at Newburgh Sunday.

Mrs. Joseph McDonald, East Orange, New Jersey, and Mrs. Joseph Stoneburgh, Newburgh, spent Wednesday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Renwick Harris.

Miss Lucy Gerow has returned to her home in Richmond Hill, L. I., after spending two weeks with her cousin, Mrs. Mary J. Johnston.

Mrs. Emma Minard and daughter, Miss Laura Minard, of St. Elmo, visited Mrs. Laura Minard and daughter, Miss May Minard, Sunday.

Bane said the child accused her father of having illicit relations with her when she was nine years old and added that she had confessed planning the shooting for a month, but was "just waiting for a chance."

Grizic, a native of Hungary and a WPA worker, lived with his family in an old farm house in a nearby mining village. It was there that he was shot in the back of the head Thursday as he ate breakfast.

Bane said the child declared she had kept secret the alleged three-year-old mistreatment by her father until it became known to the mother when Irene talked of it in her sleep.

Hollywood Sighs and Sounds

By Robbin Coane

HOLLYWOOD—Julius Garfield—now John—will never be a movie star. He will never be rich. He will never have a Beverly Hills shack with a swimming pool and four butlers.

His studio, since it saw him on the screen in "Four Daughters," is sure it has a new star. The ballyhoo already loomed. But John will never be a movie star. He won't let himself be. He says the play's the thing, and very few acting names should go above its title.

JOHN GARFIELD is 26. He is shorter than the average movie actor but well proportioned. His hair is black, his skin is olive, his teeth flash white. His manner and speech are cultured. He talks seriously of Great Things—as he sees them—just as he'd learned it all at the finest of universities.

In a sense, he did. He was born on New York's lower east side. He was a problem child, a community menace, a Dead End kid. He says he's sure he could have been a gangster if he hadn't been for Angelo Patri, the child psychologist.

Patri impressed him through kindness where others had failed with force. Patri suggested the theater as his vocation—and Garfield was an actor from that time.

Franchot Tone left the rebellious Group Theater for Hollywood six months before Garfield joined it. The only play outside the Group that Garfield has done since was "Having Wonderful Time." He thinks Hollywood ruined the play.

LIKE others of the Group, Garfield learned to eat scantily—for the sake of putting on plays with "ideas."

"My chief purpose," he says, "is to become constantly a better actor. But at the same time I want to do all the advancement of liberal ideas. I was told Hollywood would be deadly dull—I find more exciting talk here than in New York."

He speaks of organizations—pro-democracy, anti-fascism—with enthusiasm. And of pictures like "Zola" and "They Won't Forget" and "Blockade," as the kind he wants to be in the kind the screen is coming to. He is sure of that. The public—forsaking its old idea that great wealth is the ideal—is settling down to live, to read, to think. It will demand thought from the screen. It will tire of boy-meets-girl stuff.

Such talk from an actor! "Nathan can keep me from speaking my mind on the things I believe in," he says. "If money's the club, it won't work because I don't care about it. I can leave any time."

And the lad, believe me, is sincere. He'll never be a movie star. He talks too much.

Lutheran Men's Club

The regular monthly meeting of Trinity Lutheran Men's Club will be held on Tuesday evening, August 30, at 8 o'clock. At the conclusion of the business meeting refreshments will be served and a social hour will follow.

Jeffery—Yes, I was sorry to read about that. But where are you speaking from now?

And speaking of expressions what would be a modern one for "putting the cat before the horse?" (How about "putting the trailer before the car, Virginia?")

Mr. Herman—Have you heard that Mrs. Jones eloped with the chauffeur in her husband's car?

Mr. Pummel—Yes—was he very annoyed?

Mr. Herman—Rather—he says he can't afford a new car.

Believe It Or Not

Every family in the United States averages using 4½ gallons of gasoline every day in the year.

Jimmy was pinched for speeding yesterday.

James—Why?

Jimmy—His wife wanted to go home to her mother.

James—Well?

Jimmy—He was taking her there.

If, in mentioning highway matters, it was possible to write a law that would be obeyed, some way for keeping auto drivers from creating the hills in the middle of the road, how wonderful it would be.

Georgia Lawyer (to colored prisoner)—Well, Sambo, so you want me to defend you? Have you got any money?

Negro Prisoner—No, sub, Boss. I ain't got no money, for de lak of his cash, but I got a 1936 car.

Georgia Lawyer—Well, Sambo, you can raise money on that. Now let's see—just what do they accuse you of stealing?

Negro Prisoner—A 1936 car.

We'll Try To Get There Real Early

(From the Dallas News)

Dr. Rosser and Dr. Schookfield will be speakers Tuesday night.

Dr. Rosser will take his topic from the Psalms: "Behold how good and pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

Dr. Schookfield will speak on flat feet.

Little Judith—Mother, do angels have wings?

Mother—Yes, dear.

Little Judith—And can angels fly, Mother?

Mother—Yes, dear.

Little Judith—Daddy said nurse was an angel last night. When will she fly, Mother?

Mother—Tomorrow.

The Golden Rule of Gossip!

Listen, my dear, things that you hear often are mixed and wrong.

Nobody knows why gossip grows as it spreads along.

If one could reach your heart and teach a single thought worthwhile,

This it would be—that you might see gossip is doubly vile.

Never caught speeding a thought harmful or base or cruel;

Gossip disdains! Silence retain; This is the Golden Rule.

Colored Maid (to caller)—Miss Alice ain't home. She's done gone down to the class.

Caller—What class?

Colored Maid—Miss Alice goes to be married, you know, and she's taking lesson in domestic silence.

It's Individuality that makes for Campus Chic

Here is a classic suit for the college girl—a cardigan jacket and skirt of gray tweed flecked with cherry and white and worn with a sweater knit of cherry-splashed gray wool to match.

By ADELAIDE KERR
Fashion Editor

College girls: Do you want a few credits in chic?

Then be a little "different." Wear a gold rope necklace with your sweater instead of that string of pearls that half the country's college girls select. Discard that long-suffering peasant kerchief tied under your chin for a bright cap squashed over your curls. Mix your colors with a sure, but daring hand. And see what a dirndl can do for you.

As to the more serious side, campus clothes this year are, as always, casual. Skirts and sweaters still get the largest vote at eastern schools. The skirts, of mixture, monotone or plaid wools, may be pleated or plain, while the sweaters are nearly always crew-necked. There's a chance for individuality in contrasting the colors of the two and adding a tweed jacket, wool socks and a long wool scarf to harmonize.

Reversible coats are practical for campus wear. This year's editions are generally squared models made of tweed or camel's hair on one side and gabardine on the other.

The off-the-face campus wardrobe generally includes another coat of black, brown, dark green or wine-colored wool, cut on a fitted silhouette and simply furled with some such pelt as beaver, mink or nutria.

Dresses should include one simple wool frock and several dark crepe ones to be worn with sparkling clips or a "clunky" glittering necklace to week-end teas and dances.

One simply tailored suit, whose fitted jacket has a rather high throat line, is almost a "must" for the college girl, since it can be worn for traveling and week-end jaunts.

Evening frocks, which complete her wardrobe, have wide swishing skirts this year. They come in white, black, green, russet and blue satins, taffetas, chiffons and velvets and are often topped by jackets to match.

Something individual in campus clothes is this frock of brown and white shepherd's checked wool topped by a waistcoat whose trimly buttoned front is of brown corduroy. The collar is corduroy, too.

So You're Going To College
Then It's Time To Try
A Grown-Up Hair Style

An up-swept coiffure is very modern.

By BETTY CLARKE
Feature Service Writer

So you're going to college? Try a grown-up hair-do.

You may discover it isn't practical for classroom wear. But you ought to know it's done—because many of your fashionable sister-students will be experimenting with it.

Two things to remember while you're making way for a new hair style: the proper cut and, if your hair isn't naturally curly, a good, close permanent.

Longer In Back
Your hair probably is fairly long in back now. Don't cut too much off because that hair has to be drawn to the top of your head. But the hair on top may be quite a little shorter—as short as three or four inches, in fact.

The purpose of the close permanent is, of course, to provide lasting curls. It's disappointing to have your hair all curled up on top one minute and then to have it all go with the first gust of wind.

Once you get your haircut and permanent try a little experimenting.

Take a good wet brush. Bend your head down and brush all the hair at the back of your neck upward. Fasten it on top of your head.

Next: The Daily Shower.

Try serving horseradish sauce on short ribs of beef, baked ham or a pot roast. Add two tablespoons of prepared horseradish, one tablespoon chopped parsley and a fourth teaspoon of Worcestershire to each cup of cream sauce. The combination is very tasty.

Modern Cooks Can't Improve
On Grandmother's Jam RecipesBy MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Feature Service Writer

Although newfangled cookery has supplanted many oldtime methods and made possible saving many hours of labor, grandmother's recipes still are favorites in many families—and deservedly.

Especially choice are many of her recipes for canning, particularly jams and preserves.

Pears were one of her favorites. She spiced them, made them into all sorts of preserves, butters and jams—headliners among spreads.

A Pear Chutney
She considered pear chutney just the thing to serve with chops, roasts, fowl or hot breads.

Here's how to prepare it: Cook together, until thick eight cups of diced pears, two cups of raisins, half a cup of chopped onions, one tablespoon of celery seed, three tablespoons of salt, one cup of granulated sugar, a fourth of a teaspoon of pepper and three cups of vinegar. It will take an hour or more for it to thicken. Stir it frequently to prevent scorching. When it's done pour chutney into sterilized jars and seal it at once.

Ginger and Ripe Pear Jam
(Makes eleven six-ounce glasses)
4 cups prepared fruit
½ to 1 cup diced crystallized ginger

7½ cups granulated sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin
Peel, core and crush completely or grind—about three pounds fully ripe pears. Dice about half a pound of crystallized ginger.

Pear preserve is another leading spread. There are all sorts of ways to make it. Medley Pear Preserve goes like this:

Measure sugar and prepared fruit, solidly packed, into a large kettle. Add ginger, mix well and bring to a full boil over a very hot fire. Stir constantly before and during boiling. Boil hard for one minute. Remove from fire and stir in the fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just five minutes to cool slightly and to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once.

Pear Preserves
Pear preserve, too, makes a tempting topping for breads—or gives a tasty finish to salads or desserts. Make it this way:

Peel, quarter and slice pears until you have eight cupsful. Boil two cups of water and six cups of granulated sugar together for five minutes. Add the pears and cook them slowly for 15 minutes. Then add a fourth of a cup of bark cinnamon and twelve whole cloves—loosely tied in a white cotton bag. Allow to simmer for an hour. Remove spice, bag and pour conserve into sterilized jars. Seal immediately.

The Baby Rule: Pink For Girls, Blue For Boys

By JOAN DURHAM
Ap Feature Service Writer

Pink is for girls and blue for boys.

That's an old baby custom. Still, if mother prefers pink for her boy's clothes or blue for her girl's, there's no reason she should not get it. There's no reason, either, if she has furnished her nursery in blue and a baby daughter arrives, that she should not continue her chosen color scheme.

A number of questions arise when the new baby comes. Announcements, for one thing.

A Combination Card
The generally-accepted and

Crystallized ginger and luscious ripe pears are a fine team for the jam pot.

Mix together eight cups of sliced pears. Six cups of sliced peaches and four cups of sliced quinces. Add half a cup of lemon juice, a third of a cup of orange juice, one teaspoon of grated orange rind and two teaspoons of grated lemon rind and four cups of water. Cook slowly until the fruit is soft. Add twelve cups of granulated sugar. Boil gently until the conserve thickens. Pour into sterilized jars and seal when done. (Hint: for using Medley Pear Preserve, see recipe for jam.)

Parents of the new baby to send an announcement to the society editor of the local newspaper. The editor will use it or not, as he sees fit.

Information sent to a newspaper should be brief and to the point. It may read something like this: "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of 100 Any Street are the parents of a son, John Jr., born Saturday, September 10, at the Greenacres Hospital in this city. The baby is the couple's first child. Mrs. Smith is the former Jane Debutante, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Debutante of 22 Holiday street."

Although local custom sometimes decrees otherwise, it is generally considered proper to send birth announcements only to intimate friends of the parents. A small gift is almost mandatory upon reception of an announcement.

The gift is usually a small one, such as a book or a toy, and is followed by a card from the mother and father.

For the Newspaper
It is perfectly proper for the visitor

Meeting the Needs
Of Betty Co-Ed

By RUTH COWAN

Chicago, Aug. 27 (AP)—From darning eggs to white umbrellas range the gadgets and clothes assembled today by the city's largest stores to meet the needs of Betty Co-ed this fall.

Several "college bureaus" in the retail marts have staffs augmented by girls from major universities and colleges to advise freshmen—and their mammas, too—on what to buy.

Allowing for seasonal variations in college styles, there are some "musts" that, judging from the various showings, form a skeleton wardrobe.

Sweaters and skirts make the grade in colleges from New England to California. There's a new "junior jerkin" of suede in bright colors to contrast with the sweater which generally matches the skirt. Plaid skirts are topped with solid color pull-ons.

Blouses add variety and vary from plaid flannel shirts to tailored silk numbers. They are worn with jumper dresses that are making a comeback.

Three-piece suits or a two-piece suit with a top coat are in the "A" class. Varied with sweaters and blouses, they are a basic wardrobe.

The shirt-waist dress is a favored style for the necessary campus wool frocks. The wardrobe also calls for "date-dresses" and semi-formals and formals. Many of the latter have jackets to make them double purpose outfits. A new comer is a wool evening wrap.

For lounging there's a new flannel outfit of plaid slacks, blouse and beer jacket.

And many college girls, apparently, will wear hosiery in the hair—tiny ones fastened to bobby pins.

To Loosen Ice Trays

Never use a sharp instrument to loosen the ice trays in your refrigerator; you might puncture the coils. Take a dull instrument and use it as a wedge under the rim. When you replace the trays, wipe them with a cloth. It's the freezing of the excess water that makes trays stick.

"Women's terrors have to learn delicacy of touch."

Midget Stars Race Sunday; Closis Edge the Hedricks by 2-1

Woodstock Legion to Present Best Drivers Trials 1 P. M.

Anderson, Krantz and Sevel Raceway Stars Bill—Rhymer and Jack—the Local Entries

Woodstock, Aug. 27—Tomorrow when the mad midgets race around the Woodstock Leasedway, one of the keenest for the feature crown ever there will be made. Together with Anderson, Krantz, who have captured the main event and have a good chance of winning it off with the big purse of $1,000, there will be Bob King, England champion, Carl Ed Buckley, Harry Ed Hartley, Chet Henry Gritzsch and Red Gritzsch. Gritzsch, Gibbons, Hartley, Mar and Gritzsch are entered to appear unless accidents at Roosevelt Raceway and Port Stadium prevent their appearance, as occurred on August 17. Local fans look for action from Jackson, Woodstock, and Ted Mer, Kingston, both of whom have done very well with little experience. Now that the season is ending, each is expected to be a serious competitor. Bob Wright of Poughkeepsie, expected to be at the track with new midget upon which he has been laboring for several weeks, will introduce a new driver, untested Maggicomo. Maggicomo, one of the valley's best motorcycle racers, ran off with all events at the cycle rodeo held at Poughkeepsie last Sunday and was a demon for speed. In addition to the drivers named above, there will be Bud Mar, Elmer, Red Allen, Flushing, N. Y., and Ray, N. Y., and Charlie Street, Quincy, Mass., and Miner, Don Clair, Dedham, Mass.; Cliff Barnett, Menasha, Wis.; and many others. A field of 35 racers is expected and the directors are of the opinion that the fans will be given one of the outstanding programs of the season. The race program will begin at 10 p. m., and the time trials at 8 o'clock. There is parking space available for 5,000 cars. Traffic on the track will be handled by deputies from Sheriff Moynihan's office and the boys of the Woodstock Post, American Legion, will look after the cars at the track. The peak of employment in the racing industry is August and September. The largest racial group of midgets is the Singhaese.

Fatta Outpoints Mirable On Sparkling Fight Card, Raigins Loses to Forezzi

ROBERT HERZOG AND JOHN BURGEVIN Johnny Burgevin (right) and Bob Herzog made it a friendly match before battling each other for the tennis singles championship of Ulster county at Forsyth Park. Burgevin was still smiling at the end of the duel in which he won the net crown.

Kelly's Corner New Bat, Homer for Ashdown—Baltz to Have Team

By Joe Kelly
Toddy Uhl is a proud papa. . . . And it's a boy. . . . Another pitcher for the City League. . . . Gus Steigewald invested in some new bats for the Closis. . . . And Jimmy Ashdown batted a homer with one of the nice shiny willows. . . . Those new National League baseballs Treasurer Ed Banks brought around last night went untouched save for three safeties. . . . Muller, third sacker of the Hedricks sent one through a top-tier window in Jacobson. . . . And did the crowd go wild. . . . They seemed to be waiting for the clatter of glass for the past several weeks. . . . Closis' outfielders grabbed only four flies while the Brewers' gardeners enjoyed a night's vacation. . . . Only one Closis star went past the infield. . . . That was Ashdown's homer. . . . Toddy used a sky book to nab Steigewald's high toss in the third. . . . Fred Baum-

Before the Battle
Carmine Fatta seemed to pack the power of two right hands into one last night as he pounded out a decisive win over Frankie Mirable, flooring him four times, before a capacity crowd at the municipal auditorium. The dynamic little Newburgh featherweight, by overhauling the Albany pugilistic star, ran up his second big win in a row. Last week he slugged his way to a victory over Mario Severino, who he joined the Lou Ambers stable, and next week will try for his third win at the auditorium. Fatta, who replaces Severino as the local favorite, since the upstate star has joined the pro ranks, will try out his punching power on Manuel Roosa, or some of the other first rate featherweights in the amateurs. Last night, the bell robbed Fatta of a knockout in the first round. The gong sounded as the capital city leather pusher lay on his back from the effects of a cyclonic right that Carmine landed just a few seconds before the end of the round. Mirable kissed the canvas once before in the same frame. Frankie, revived by his seconds, left his corner only to be felled twice again in the second round by Fatta's booming right and took a pasting for the rest of the fight. He gave a masterful exhibition, not alone of punching, but of avoiding Mirable's rushes, stepping aside and cutting the Albanian with rights and lefts. In the fourth round, Mirable cut loose with a flurry of leather that made him look like the boy who earned matches at the Texas exposition and in Europe, but when Fatta bore down again in the fifth he was too much for him. Charlie Forezzi, the Albany Buzzer, used his educated left hook and that good straight right to upset Charlie Raigins, the Saugerties Bomber, in the semi-final. Raigins found Forezzi a smarter boxer and harder hitter than Cliff Leeger, the Mohawk Stadium slugger, whom he scored and won in his last time out at the auditorium. Although he lost, Raigins put up a good fight, punching away, and taking all Forezzi had. The fans yelled for their respective favorites, the majority seeming to be on the side of the Bomber. In the third round, Forezzi clipped Raigins with a hard right, sending him down for a count of nine. He landed the blow on the break, to counter for one that Raigins had sent over just as Referee Bill Singer had ordered them to part. Othney Trovatiello, Poughkeepsie bantamweight, outpointed Leo Sarnelli, Albany, five rounds. B. D. Benoit, Amsterdam welterweight, defeated Carl Fiori, Bronx county champion, five rounds. Dutch Williams, Newburgh middleweight, knocked out Earl Reynolds of Amsterdam in 1:20 of the third round. This fight was one of the most sensational ever seen at the Broadway Punch Bowl, Williams making a comeback to win after being on the verge of a kayo. Sherry Smith, Monroe welterweight, outpointed Eddie Ackerly, Schenectady, five rounds. Hank Bunce, Kingston, won over Carlo Lutz of Albany, three rounds. The officials: Bill Singer, referee; Joe Vozdik and Tony Rodriguez, judges; Morton Finch, timekeeper; Samuel J. Riber, announcer; and Maurice Silk, examining physician.

garden's Hedricks (the Huron Indians) will play tomorrow at Fairview Park, Stone Ridge, against the Sullivan County Farmers. . . . Starting time of the game is 2:20. . . . It'll be Chick La Polt or Vic Egan on the mound for the Riders. Carmen Fatta took home that Robert Taylor trophy, but the real connection with that picture "The Crowd Roared" was the fight Dutch Williams won by a knockout after a sensational recovery. . . . He had the fans in such an uproar, the roof seemed to be blowing off. . . . Pete Hayes, former leading featherweight contender, took a bow in the ring. . . . So did Ralph (Eddie) Steele, old Poughkeepsie favorite. . . . He says he contemplates starting a gym in Saugerties. . . . The Crystal bowlers get going Monday at Ellenville. . . . Charlie Raigins was a target for Forezzi last night, but he took it and kept moving. . . . That Carmine Fatta can hit, Frankie Mirable will certify. . . . He is qualified to say so after hitting the deck four times. Mike Jacobs will not get a very warm welcome from Detroit and Chicago fight promoters. Next big league managerial change will occur in the American League within two weeks (or less) after the season closes. . . . Three guesses. . . . There ain't any truth to the reports Mrs. Helen Willis Moody will change her mind. . . . Steve Basil, who is doing a good job of umpiring in the American League, is a Syrian and an uncle of Pete Sartori, the former featherweight champion. . . . Whenever the Boston Bees get 15 hits it is news. . . . Harry Kimberlin, pitching for San Antonio won a ball game and killed a rabbit the same night. . . . The bunny came tearing from beneath the bleachers and headed for the home plate via second base. . . . A fast ball, thrown at 20 feet, did the work. . . . Tommy Farr is blaming Manager Joe Gould for his runout in the Maurice Strickland match. . . . Gould insisted on a Joe Louis shot if he won. . . . Wichita University is liable to give Army one good pushing around in that football opener. That softball exhibition between the Kalamazoo and Knickerbocker last night didn't come off. . . . Gil Sampson says the Knickerbocker failed to put in an appearance. . . . So the boys picked up a team for a workout. . . . Al Melville swims at Saratoga Lake Sunday, and Monday will try the Hudson river from Highland to Poughkeepsie. . . . The Single Men of the 8th Ward won another softball game from the Married Men this week, 23-19. . . . The series now stands at five out of six for the Singles. . . . Tomorrow it will be a canoe program at Williams Lake. . . . Chet Baltz, we hear, will put his Pajama Boys in the City Basketball League for the forthcoming season. . . . He won't give out his lineup. . . . But we think the "Sleepers" will be the Baltz brothers, Chet and Harold, Chippe Rhymer, Cowboy Every and maybe Johnny Gilday. . . . Three cheers for Clinton Avenue softball team. . . . It won the championship of the American division in the Church League last night, turning back the Comforters. . . . Now it will be the Clintons vs. the Fair Street Reformed boys for the league pennant. Soaring Meet Frankfort, Mich., Aug. 27 (AP)—Glider pilots from both coasts were here for the start this afternoon of the American open soaring meet, the first national glider contest to be held in western Michigan.

Clinton Win 8 to 3; Meet Fair Street For Championship

The Clinton Avenue Church League softballers rode into the championship of the American League division last night by virtue of an 8-3 defeat handed to the Comforters. The defeat for last year's champions eliminated them from any further chances they might have had to repeat, and assured the Clintons the privilege of meeting the Fair Street muckers in the playoff for the cup. The winners coupled eight hits with a number of errors to score midway in the game, and were never in danger. Don Weeks scattered five hits to banducci the Comforters bats, and received fine support for his teammates. Chet Weeks, Whitey Myers, and Hyatt scored the first tallies of the game in the third inning on two hits and three errors, and in the fourth frame Clinton Avenue chalked up another four runs. The Comforters did not score until the third inning when Elmer May banged a single to right field and scored along with Rhymer and Purvis to give the Comforters their three runs. Clinton Avenue deserved to win last night as they played heads-up ball throughout the game. Don Weeks hurled fine ball, zipping his fast one over the corners of the plate, and when darkness descended upon the field the fast ball was a decided setback to the Comforters.

First Division National Clubs Have Hard Time

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
It is being suggested around and about that Messrs. Ford Frick and Will Harridge get those Yankees to take up tating between April and October next year, while the 15 other so-called big league clubs hold an elimination to decide the victims for Gehrig & Co. Consider, for example, the National League chase of recent weeks, which finds the first four clubs separated by only 6 1/2 games, and all of them apparently doing their best to educate the folks in how not to win the flag. Then look at the American League, where the Yankees are a mere 12 games out in front. Not one team has picked up as much as a game on the Yanks in two weeks. Turning once more to the National League, you have the Cubs momentarily coming to life to regain third place with a 7-3 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday for a winning streak of four straight. And cast a glance at the Pittsburgh Pirates. Given an odds on chance of winning the pennant in the last month, the Bucs not only have dropped three straight to the last place Phillies, but dropped them to old man pitchers. Thursday Wild Bill Hallahan beat them and yesterday old Lefty Al Smith took a 6-4 decision. After you've enjoyed your laugh at that one, have another on those once ruled Reds from Cincinnati who became just an amiable in going down for the third straight time before Boston's no-nonsense Bees, 6-1. Bill Terry's second-place Giants succeeded in knocking away a ball game to the Cardinals as the Gashouses came through, 7-6, on a run in the ninth. All this left the Pirates still holding a 4 1/2 game lead over the Cardinals, with the Cubs a game farther back and the Reds one more length to the bad. The Yankees split with the Cleveland Indians in their tourney straight twin bill, winning the opener, 15-9, and dropping the nightcap, 8-5. But Boston's second-place Red Sox did nothing about closing the gap, for their best was an even break in a pair with the White Sox. Old Ted Lyons took the opener, 12-2, and Jimmy Fox whacked two homers in Boston's 9-8 nightcap win. The Detroit Tigers came a knicker nearer the first division with a 9-3 margin over Washington, and the Athletics retained their slim percentage hold on seventh place by splitting with the Browns, taking the opener 11-6 and giving the Brownies the afterpiece 6-4.

Ashdown's Home Run Wins Game For the Grocers

Neff Fans 11

Fred Baumgarten's Mound Ace on Losing End Despite Stellar Hurling—Closis in Tie for First Place
Charles Neff, Hedrick's first ball flinger, exploded his fast one past 11 batters but lost a one-hitter when Jim Ashdown homered down the right field line, scoring Stoll to give Closis a 2-1 victory. Capturing their second contest this week, the Grocers jumped into a first-place tie with Grunewalds. With Neff and Bud Swarthout looking up in another mound duel, last night's contest at the Athletic Field terminated a week of hectic action. The Brewers lost the nod for the second time as Swarthout bested the famed smokeball flinger by virtue of Ashdown's big Bertha. Neff was in superb form, fanning 11 Grocers and climaxed his strikeout splurge by whiffing nine out of 11 batters during the second, third and fourth frames. Turning on the heat, Fred Baumgarten's meat pitcher buzzed his sizzler by five successive downswingers before Jim Ashdown drew his second walk in the third. Two more Grocers bit the dust but Embree sucked a free ticket before Neff completed his strikeout string by fanning Leskie and Swarthout in the fourth. Swarthout hurled cleverly as Closis marched to their second conquest, fanning but two scattered hits over the six-inning distance. Muller's upper shoulder over Ed Ashdown's shoulder for a scratch hit in the fourth and McLean scored a clean single to center, scoring LaPolit in the sixth for the base hit duo. Closis' outpaw struck out four and gave but one free ticket for another grade-A mound effort. Ashdown Wins Game With two gone in the fatal fifth, Jim Ashdown punched a looping fly down the first base line, scoring Stoll from second with the pay-off. Stoll drew a walk and moved to second on Eddie Ashdown's deft sacrifice to set the stage for Ashdown's safety. Swinging against Neff's high hard one, Ashdown connected with his four-master, LaPolit, playing towards center, came over fast but the pill bounded erratically past to roll to the extreme right field corner as the Grocers' second baseman completed the circuit behind Stoll. Hedricks came up with one of their copyrighted last inning efforts in the sixth when LaPolit wheeled around to second on Ed Ashdown's wild heave over Toddy's head. Fisher inhaled to Toddy behind first and a twin-killing toolzed when LaPolit crashed into Ed Ashdown after being trapped. McLean, Hedricks' trouble shooter, pumped a sharp single into center tallying LaPolit but Komosa plucked Neff's twisting fly off his knees for the final out. Umpire Dulin terminated the contest in the last of the sixth. Sensational Slinging After three hitless innings, Muller scratched a hit in the fourth for the first safety of the contest. Neff and Swarthout stopped the hitters cold as they battled to a hitless draw during the first three frames. Neff continued down the no-hit no-run trail until the fifth when Ashdown's homer caused defeat with but one man to go. Closis failed to push a ball beyond the infield all the way while Swarthout allowed four balls to float into the pastures. Closis climbed the league ladder by virtue of Swarthout's stellar slinging and Ashdown's pay-off blow to get into a tie with Grunies for first place. ## Boats and Boating Local Fleet to Sail to Poughkeepsie—Three Day Program for Gold Cup Regatta

By RICHARD O. GRUVER
FLEET TO SEE REGATTA
Sunday will be the date for the first group cruise of Rondout Creek boatmen in many a year. Practically all the boats in Fischer's Yacht Basin will compose the fleet which will leave the creek at 9 a. m. to witness the regatta to be held at Poughkeepsie. This regatta is the outstanding race in the Hudson Valley. Approximately sixty outboard drivers will compete for prizes totaling $500. Among the fleet to leave Fischer's Basin will be the "Lou," piloted by "Bernie" Reilly; the "Three Stooges," with Joe Huber and Neil Bruck at the helm; John A. Fischer's "Confidence," captained by "Shad" Maurer; Jack Clair and his "Sealion"; Don Schryver and "Chick" Miller with their Chris Crafts; Harold Davis and his Dodge runabout and Sam Reed and his cruiser, "The Gooon." These boats will convey over fifty regatta fans to the scene of the races. "Maestro Jack" Linton was forced to cancel plans to participate in this cruise due to a broken clutch on his boat, the "Frio." A frequent visitor to the Rondout Creek is a palatial cruiser the "Mark Brooke," flying the flag of the U. S. Army Engineering Department. "Johnny" Heder sold his outboard runabout, the "Skipper," to a Poughkeepsie boatman last Saturday.

THREE DAY PROGRAM FOR GOLD CUP REGATTA

A three-day racing program, climaxed by three 30-mile heats for the Gold Cup Championships, has been arranged for Detroit's annual Labor Day regatta series on the Detroit river. All of the events are for inboard craft, including 225 cubic inch hydroplanes, runabouts and cruisers. Interest is being focused, as usual, on the 35th running of the Gold Cup on Labor Day afternoon. At least five starters, all of them potential 90-mile-an-hour boats, are assured for the classic, and added entries may swell the field to eight or nine craft at race time. Canada and Italy again will be represented in the titular regatta with the Detroit Yacht Club in the familiar role of defending the historic gold-plated silver urn. Herbert Mendelson, last year's champion, will send a new Notre Dame to the starting line to vie with the fleet of American and foreign challengers. Count Theo Rossi, the Italian who threw a scare into Gold Cup circles last year, is bringing back his Alagi which set up a new lap mark of 71.446 miles an hour in the 1937 championships. E. A. Wilson, of Ingersoll, Ont., has entered a new contender, Miss Canada III, which will be piloted by his son, Harold. Wilson's Miss Canada II was a serious threat last year. Two other new craft, as yet untried, will share with Notre Dame the task of defending American speedboat supremacy. Horace E. Dodge of the Detroit Yacht Club and a perennial Gold Cup contender, built one of the new racers at Newport, Va. The other, My Sin, was constructed for Zalmon G. Simmons, of Greenwich, Conn., and will be piloted by Arno Apel under the colors of the Absecon Island Yacht Club of Atlantic City, N. J.

MOTOR BOAT EXPORTS INCREASE

Exports of American motor boats and marine engines increased in value by more than 10 per cent for the first six months of 1938, Department of Commerce statistics reveal. The volume of foreign trade for the first half of the year totaled $1,030,048, compared with $1,815,088 for the same period of 1937. Canada was the chief market for both boats and marine engines, with Venezuela and France following next in order. The exports went to 57 different countries during the six-month period.

MARINA RECOMMENDED AT BURLINGTON, VT.

A municipal pleasure boat basin on Burlington's Lake Champlain waterfront has been recommended to the city council following a survey of local boating facilities by officials of the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers.

Double Guards for Saratoga Stars

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Two of America's most talked about race horses had special guards about their stables today as Saratoga's famed 20-day meeting drew to a close amid an official investigation into "doping" activities. Matt Brady, trainer of William Ziegler, Jr.'s El Chico, undefeated two-year-old and odds-on favorite to win the $50,000 Hopeful Stakes today, doubled the guard around his stable during the night. At the same time War Admiral, winner of three stakes at the Spa and favorite to capture the Saratoga Cup at a mile and three-quarters today, was watched closely by stable employees. The precautions were taken after the New York State Racing Commission found that Airframe, Alfred G. Vanderbilt's star four-year-old sprinter, had been given a "large amount of morphine" before the running of the fifth race on August 17.

Final in Public Links Tourney

Cleveland, Aug. 27 (AP)—Two veterans of golf's pay-as-you-play circuit shared top billing today in the final act of the game's annual big production for the working man—the National Public Links Championship. They were Al Leach, 26-year-old Cleveland WPA time-keeper, and Louis Cyr of Portland, Ore., railroad employee. They met in a 36-hole battle for the national daily-tease course title at Highland Park course.

Trapshooters' Tourney Is Over

Vandalia, Ohio, Aug. 27 (AP)—America's trapshooting kings and queens were homeward bound today with cash and trophies won in the 33th annual Grand American carnival. Ortelio William (Ted) West, Coshocton county's highway superintendent, had the greatest amount of "foot," about $2,000, for his victory in the Grand American Handicap. Mrs. George Peters of Springfield, O., won the women's Grand American Handicap. Joe Hestand, Hillsboro farmer, started the Buckeye barrage by breaking 968 targets at 16 yards to set a world record and annex the North American clay target title.

Jacobs and the Garden Together

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—Mike Jacobs, ruler of this town's boxing rings, looked to Chicago, Detroit and Philadelphia today for newer and fresher fields. The man who parlayed Joe Louis and an intimate knowledge of the ticket brokerage business into the dictatorship of boxing consolidated his holdings yesterday. He went into virtual partnership with Madison Square Garden on fights. Under the new arrangement, announced by Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, garden president, the garden will share in Jacobs profits on all fights here and elsewhere and will go fifty-fifty on any losses. Colonel Kilpatrick said "we are leasing the garden boxing privileges to Jacobs for a four-year period ending May 31, 1942." That the garden and Michael see eye to eye on boxing here was scarcely news, but Jacobs' announcement of signed contracts to promote shows in both the Chicago Stadium and the Olympia in Detroit was. He also has been invited to try his luck in Philadelphia.

Williams Lake Canoe Regatta Draws Big Entry List Sunday

Twenty-two paddlers from the east were the first to arrive today at Williams Lake for the canoe regatta there Sunday. The caravan rolled in with seven sleek boats on a special trailer. There will be more than 60 participants and at least 30 canoes in the regatta, according to George J. Ryan of Newark, president of the American Canoe Association, representing 12 clubs. Ten events are scheduled, featuring some of the best paddlers, including Ernie Reidel of Pendleton Canoe Club of New York city. His strongest opponent will be Harold Burns of Yonkers. These two have a grudge to settle, due to Burns' victory over the veteran Reidel who had been a consistent winner for 13 years in all sorts of events. The championship team of Bill Havens and William Rhodes of the Washington, D. C., canoe club and Adolph Springle and Knute Nelson of Jacksack, N. J., will be featured also.

Crystal Bowlers To Roll Monday

Fred Davi's Crystal Beauty Shoppe bowling team, Kingston's leading exhibition outfit, rolls its first special match of the season Monday night at Ellenville against the Ellenville Recreation All Stars. Davi, sponsor of the Beauticians, has signed three new men for the forthcoming season—Bob Hanley, Harold Broskie and John Ferrar. Brookline, Mass., Aug. 27 (AP)—Adrian Quist and John Bromwich of Australia, today had high hopes of gaining their fourth straight victory over Don Budge and Gene Mako, this time in the final round of the national doubles tennis tournament at Longwood. The Australians gained the title round yesterday by defeating their countrymen, Harry Hopman and Leonard Schwartz, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2. Budge and Mako, the 1936 titlists, qualified by out-playing Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, the two-time winners, 6-1, 6-2, 3-6, 10-8. Alice Marble and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fehay were scheduled to defend their women's doubles title against Mme. Rene Mathies of France and Jadwiga Jedzejowska of Poland, who became finalists with an upset 6-4, 6-2 win over Nancy Wynne and Thelma Coyne of Australia, the top-seeded foreign entry.

Williams Lake Canoe Regatta Draws Big Entry List Sunday

Twenty-two paddlers from the east were the first to arrive today at Williams Lake for the canoe regatta there Sunday. The caravan rolled in with seven sleek boats on a special trailer. There will be more than 60 participants and at least 30 canoes in the regatta, according to George J. Ryan of Newark, president of the American Canoe Association, representing 12 clubs. Ten events are scheduled, featuring some of the best paddlers, including Ernie Reidel of Pendleton Canoe Club of New York city. His strongest opponent will be Harold Burns of Yonkers. These two have a grudge to settle, due to Burns' victory over the veteran Reidel who had been a consistent winner for 13 years in all sorts of events. The championship team of Bill Havens and William Rhodes of the Washington, D. C., canoe club and Adolph Springle and Knute Nelson of Jacksack, N. J., will be featured also.

Prices Decline On Reduce Volume

The slow upturn that has been taking place along the industrial front was reflected in the weekly business indices. Stocks were earlier and prices declined on reduced volume yesterday.

For the week ending August 20, Burron's business index was up sharply to 61.9% of normal from 58.6% in previous week. Freight loadings showed slightly less than seasonal gain of 3,357 cars.

Lowering Dow-Jones leading index to 63.4 vs. 69.5 in preceding week. Ward's estimated weekly automobile output at 18,700 units vs. 23,940 last week but expressed belief solid foundation has been built for steadily gaining activities. It is estimated that producers have spent $60,000,000 for tooling factories.

Youngstown steel operations were up a point to about 45% of capacity and preliminary schedules indicate the rate will be maintained next week. Buffalo district operations advanced slightly. Bond offerings were up for the week, totaling $67,700,000 vs. $73,685 last week and $36,175,000 in one week a year ago.

Up in theatre attendance as the Atlantic Reelings film registration has been among the re-sistant stocks. Bonds were under moderate pressure. Commodities were steady. Wheat at Chicago, though, showed strong in the wake of the advance program for this cereal.

Leading foreign markets were mixed but further gold hoarding abroad resulted in another boost of the yellow metal's price in London to near reaching high. Foreign currencies generally were lower in terms of the dollar.

Continuing the trend were Bethlehem Steel, Santa Fe, Loew's, Deere, and others. Radio and Twentieth Century-Fox.

Streets Downtown Being Rebuilt by Street Department

Acting Superintendent Chris Helsenman of the Board of Public Works stated today that many of the streets in the downtown section of the city were either being rebuilt or it was planned to rebuild them shortly. The street department, he said, has been busy in the Sixth ward for the past few weeks and among the streets that have been rebuilt are DuBois street, DuBois street and Newkirk avenue, which have just been completed.

Work has also been started on Ann street and St. Mary's street, and it was planned to rebuild East Pierpont street, Stuyvesant street, East Chestnut street and Livingston street in the downtown section.

Within the next week or so the street department will commence work rebuilding streets in the Seventh ward.

The streets are being reshaped and a macadam top laid. On some of the streets that have been rebuilt no work had been done in years.

Another street that has been rebuilt which carries heavy traffic is North street which has been rebuilt to the city line.

Wadsworth Flails New Deal At GOP's 'Hoosier Holiday'

Washington, Ind., Aug. 27 (AP).—Rep. James W. Wadsworth (R. N.Y.) declared today the Democratic administration forces had plunged the nation into economic depression and are "gambling with the fate of the nation." He gave the keynote speech at the Republican "cornfield conference" on the Capehart farm near here.

The meeting, held in a 120-acre tent city near this southern Indiana town of 10,000 population, opened the Republican campaign in 11 midwestern states and the fall campaign to elect a Republican congress.

Thousands of party workers were present, including Republican national officials, leaders from the midwest and Indiana adherents from precinct committeemen up. Party leaders urged election of new Republican congressmen this fall to set the stage for a strong presidential campaign in 1940.

"Roosevelt Responsible"
Rep. Wadsworth, 61-year-old upstate New York gentleman farmer, said President Roosevelt "more than any other person or group of persons" was responsible for what he termed the "second or Roosevelt depression."

He said the country was on the road to recovery when, in February, 1937, the president sent congress a message "arguing the passage of legislation which would enable him to pack the supreme court."

"Instantly the whole picture changed," he said. "The shock was too great to be endured by a people beginning to recover their breath. From that very moment prices began to fall."

He said the president was attempting to "subdue the congress and the courts to the executive will."

"The administration is gambling," he went on. "The fate of the nation is at stake. The gambler lost on his first throw of the dice and the nation will lose on the second throw—if we do not return to sanity and that mighty soon."

Capehart Is Host
Homer E. Capehart of Buffalo, N. Y., Hoosier-born vice president of the Wurlitzer Company, was the host. The rally was held on his 400-acre farm. Indiana leaders estimated the New York phonograph manufacturer would spend $25,000 on the affair in his avowed effort to "kill the New Deal."

Rep. James W. Wadsworth, 61-year-old upstate New York gentleman farmer, was the keynote.

Party officials of 11 midwestern states conferring with John D. M. Hamilton, national chairman, at Indianapolis yesterday, mapped a four-point program for the fall. They decided to keep criticizing the New Deal and President Roosevelt; point out reciprocal trade treaties were hurting markets for American products; coordinate state and national political, rather than government aid, as the remedy for unemployment.

Hamilton predicted Republicans would get 40 to 50 new seats in congress this fall. Representative Martin forecast a gain of 70.

Dr. Glenn Frank, chairman of the national program committee, charged at a "review" meeting on the Capehart farm last night that the President had failed to solve basic problems of industry, labor, agriculture and money.

"Until we actually get American industry in high gear, producing a greater volume of goods and services than it has ever yet produced," he said, "the abundant life will remain no more than a campaign talking point. The one-third will remain ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed, unemployment will remain a cancer at the nation's heart and the well-springs of our prosperity will tend to go dry."

Reckless Driver Fined $10
Charles Scordamos of Cementon was arrested by State Troopers Reilly and Stickles Friday night on two charges, one reckless driving and the other driving a car without an operator's license in his possession. Arraigned before Justice Bennett at Saugerties the defendant was fined $10 on the reckless driving charge which he paid and an adjournment was taken until later today on the charge of driving without an operator's license in his possession.

Sees Better Business
Chicago, Aug. 27 (AP).—Christmas business for 1938 will reflect the healthy tone indicated by recent general business upturn, Percy Wilson, manager of the Merchandise Mart, said today. This was indicated, Wilson said, by a 7 per cent increase in business and a 15 per cent increase in attendance at the recent china, pottery and glass market and gift show at the Merchandise Mart, compared with a year ago.
